

The Lormand LawFirm offers effective legal counseling and advocacy for people who need guidance in the legal areas of estate planning & elder law, probate, divorce, and bankruptcy. Located in Richmond, Virginia, The Lormand Law Firm represents clients among the jurisdictions of Richmond, Henrico, Chesterfield, and Hanover.

Mr. Lormand understands that most people need lawyers only a few times during their lives—when buying a home, making a will, or probating an estate. Sometimes people have extraordinary and unfortunate events occur in their lives. Accidents, broken contracts, marital infidelity—these are all unwelcome events that may require an attorney for resolution.

Michael Lormand is concerned about your case and its outcome. Schooled as a counselor as well as an attorney, he will help you understand the complications that comprise our legal system, and help you avoid the many traps that exist for the unwary.

He treats every client with the dignity they are due, and welcome an opportunity to discuss your issues with you. Contact today.

What are your expectations when retaining legal counsel? After your first appointment to discuss your legal issue, at a minimum, your attorney should provide you with a preliminary analysis of your circumstances and the legal challenges you may face. More importantly, a competent and reputable professional will give you an honest appraisal of your potential for success or failure.

The high-value attorney counsels and guides his clients through the emotional difficulties that can inhibit effective problem solving, and helps the client navigate through the often difficult and complicated statutes and regulations that have increasingly becoming an unwelcome part of all our lives.

If your attorney accepts representation and agrees to take your case, he should develop a plan of action that sets forth the legal basis of your position and establishes a list of the steps required for resolution of the matter. In this way, you will have a better idea of the time frame of the case and the estimated costs that may be involved.
